Williamson
Schools Foundation

Exclusion Policy

Policy statement

This policy is designed to assist Lloyd Williamson Schools Foundation schools in meeting its obligations under Part 3, Paragraph 9 of the ISS Regulations and the Statutory Framework for the Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS)

All of these require schools to have arrangements in place to promote good behaviour in school and that appropriate sanctions are imposed when a pupil fails to meet appropriate standards of behaviour. School policies on behaviour and exclusions must be widely publicised so that pupils, parents and all school staff are aware of the standards of behaviour expected and the range of sanctions available. The Co-Principals and SMT should have regard to this overarching policy document when considering exclusions.

LWSF must ensure that any exclusion complies with individual school policies and has regard to the school's wider legal obligations (such as those under the Equality Act 2010).

LWSF believes that exclusion is recognised as an appropriate sanction, however permanent exclusion should usually only be used as a last resort when a range of other strategies have been tried and exhausted. Most exclusions are the result of serious and/or persistent breaches of the school's behaviour policy. During exclusions the school should remain in contact with the pupil if deemed necessary to monitor and ensure the safety and welfare of the pupil and others. A permanent exclusion for a serious breach (e.g. a one-off or first offence) should only happen in the most serious of circumstances and exclusions should only be instigated when all other routes have been exhausted and/or as detailed in this policy.

Exclusions should only ever be issued by the Co-Principals with delegated authority in their absence. Any decision to require the removal of a pupil or to permanently exclude should follow consultation with the SMT. An exclusion appeal process must also be provided for parents. In this policy, reference to 'exclusion' includes both fixed term (temporary) and permanent exclusions. Where the policy is referring to a specific type (i.e. fixed term or permanent) of exclusion, the wording will make this clear.

Behaviour warranting exclusion

This policy gives examples of behaviour that merits exclusion and its geographical location i.e. that it extends to behaviour outside of school which brings the school into disrepute and/or could have repercussions for the orderly running of the school.

Examples of behaviour that might merit exclusion can be found at Appendix 1.

Exclusion from school

There are two types of exclusion:

1. Fixed term exclusion (temporary exclusion/suspension) This is a temporary exclusion usually for a fixed number of days. The pupil should remain at home during this period (during which time the school should take reasonable steps to set and mark work for the pupil). Fixed term exclusions may be, for example, for a period of between 24 hours and 5 days for very serious indiscipline; or less serious offences, where repeated punishment has proved ineffective. If a fixed term exclusion is ineffective, the Co-Principal may be forced to permanently exclude the pupil.

2. Permanent exclusion This is where the pupil is permanently removed from the school and the contract between the school and parents in relation to the excluded pupil is terminated. The decision should only be taken where the pupil has committed a serious breach or persistent breaches of the school's behaviour policy; and/or allowing him/her to remain in the school seriously harms the learning or welfare of the pupil or others in the school; and/or the parents have breached their contractual obligations with the school.

For breach of school discipline by a pupil, in most cases, this will be after a wide range of alternative strategies have been tried without success. However, there will be exceptional circumstances where, in the Co-Principal's professional judgement, it might be appropriate to permanently exclude a child for a single serious breach (one-off or first offence). Examples of misconduct that might be considered as a serious breach are set out in Appendix 1.

Stages of Exclusion

LWSF must ensure the exclusions process follows published school policies and the Terms and Conditions of the contract with parents.

The exclusions process will usually fall into three stages:

1. Investigation
2. Decision by the Co-Principal
3. Consideration of the Co-Principal's decision by a Panel (in accordance with the Complaints Procedure) – if requested by parents.

The initial decision on whether to exclude is for the Co-Principal to take.

1. Parents should be informed as soon as reasonably practicable if a complaint or allegation under investigation could result in the pupil being excluded.
In some cases investigation may not be immediately possible if, for example, the incident is complex and a number of witness statements are required. In this case, a Co-Principal may issue a fixed term exclusion for a short period (a maximum of 5 school days) as a neutral act:

- to allow investigation to take place; and/or
- to give opportunity for a reasoned decision. In this case the letter informing parents of the fixed term exclusion should clearly state that the reason for the fixed term exclusion is “to allow investigation into an incident which may result in permanent exclusion”.

The letter should not state that the fixed term exclusion is, in itself, punishment for the incident under investigation. Further information about the investigation process can be found below.

2. Decision by Co-Principal - once the investigation is complete, a further letter should be sent containing one of the following:
 - notification for the pupil to return to school;
 - an extension to the fixed term exclusion (if reasonably required); or
 - notification of a permanent exclusion. Decisions should be reached on the balance of probabilities e.g. it is more likely than not that the pupil committed a serious breach of school discipline. In exceptional cases, usually where further evidence is not available at the time of the investigation has come to light, a fixed term exclusion may be extended and/or converted to a permanent exclusion. Similarly, a Co-Principal may choose to dismiss a fixed term exclusion in the light of new evidence.

Behaviour outside school

The Co-Principal has the authority to make disciplinary decisions about behaviour taking place on trips, outings, sporting fixtures, or travel/movement in the vicinity of the school. Subject to the requirements of this and the school’s individual behaviour policy, the Co-Principal may discipline pupils even if the circumstances giving rise to exclusion occur when the pupil is out of school.

By way of example, this may apply in the following circumstances:

Misbehaviour when the pupil is:

- taking part in any activity organised by the School, or related to the School;
- travelling to and from school; wearing school uniform; or, in some other way identifiable as a pupil of the School.
- Misbehaviour at any time, whether or not the conditions above apply, that: could have repercussions for the orderly running of the School; poses a threat to another pupil or member of the public; or could adversely affect the reputation of the School.

In all cases, the above misbehaviour would apply whether it took place in person, over the telephone or online (including on social media).

Police involvement and parallel criminal proceedings

The process of exclusion from school and criminal proceedings can, and should, run parallel. However, in certain circumstances the school's own disciplinary process may need to be postponed pending the outcome of the police investigation. Schools should liaise closely with the Police in such cases to avoid jeopardising any Police investigation. In such circumstances, an extended fixed term exclusion may be used (if appropriate). Schools should also take particular care if there are ongoing safeguarding concerns and ensure they follow their safeguarding procedures to avoid jeopardising any external investigation and that appropriate advice is sought before taking any disciplinary decision.

Required removal

Required removal may be an option available to the Co-Principal as an alternative to exclusion.

By way of example, a Co-Principal may require parents to remove a pupil when, in the professional opinion of the Head, there has been a breakdown in the relationship between the pupil and/or parent(s) and the School. This may arise through:

- A breakdown of trust and confidence between the School and the parent(s). This may manifest itself in a number of ways, including:
 - unreasonable behaviour or conduct of parents which adversely affects (or is likely to adversely affect) their child's or other children's progress at the school, or the wellbeing of staff and/or brings (or is likely to bring) the school into disrepute
 - parent(s) not supporting the school in behaviour management
 - vexatious behaviour, such as parents repeatedly bringing unsubstantiated claims.
- Abusive behaviour by parents to the school's staff, pupils or other parents (for example as a spectator at school fixtures).
- A breakdown of trust between the school and the pupil. This may manifest itself in a number of ways, including:
 - persistent misconduct such as unauthorised absence from school;
 - unsatisfactory attendance and, in the reasonable opinion of the Co-

Principals, the removal is in the school's best interests and that of the child or other children;

- When a pupil has brought a malicious or unjustified allegation against a member of staff;
- Other circumstances where the Co-Principals (after appropriate consultation) is satisfied that it is not in the best interests of the pupil, or of the School, that the child remains at the School.

Investigatory procedures

All misbehaviour or disciplinary incidents must be dealt with by the school as soon as it is reasonably possible to do so. In the event of an incident of serious misbehaviour, an investigation should be carried out to establish the facts. An investigation of a complaint or allegation about serious misbehaviour may be coordinated by the Co-Principal or an appropriate member of senior staff. It is important to ensure that parents are informed as soon as reasonably practicable if a complaint or allegation under investigation is of a nature that could result in the pupil being excluded. To ensure a fair process, the pupil should be given the opportunity to give their account of events and to put forward any mitigating factors: this is important to establish whether there are grounds for the reported complaint and/or a formal investigation. The School should arrange for a member of staff to be present to support the pupil. A pupil who is waiting to be interviewed may be segregated and the School may confiscate a pupil's mobile phone or other personal belongings (as appropriate) for such a period as it is deemed necessary.

Due regard should also be had to any vulnerability and/or SEND the pupil may have and whether any additional support should be put in place.

If other pupils and staff are involved, it may be appropriate to speak with them and/or ask them to prepare written statements as soon as possible after the incident has taken place. The findings of the investigation should be presented to the Co-Principals for consultation and consideration.

Suspension (pending an investigation)

While an investigation into a pupil's conduct is carried out, a pupil may be suspended from school and may be required to stay at home. Alternatively, the pupil may be segregated on the school premises. When a pupil is suspended, teachers should set work to be completed by the pupil during their period of absence. The school will have a duty of care to any pupil who is suspended pending an investigation.

Search

The School reserves the right to search pupils and their possessions and will ensure such searches are conducted in line with guidance on searches and confiscation issued by the DfE ("Searching Screening and Confiscation").

Reports to the Police (and others)

Schools will usually report to the Police any activity which they reasonably suspect may amount to criminal activity which takes place either within the school grounds or outside of its grounds. Possessions or items including (but not limited to) drugs, weapons or phones which are evidence of an offence must be passed to the Police as soon as possible. Any article that is reasonably suspected to be an offensive weapon must also be passed to the Police. If schools reasonably suspect a pupil may have taken drugs then schools should seek immediate medical advice and involve the Police and/or children's social care, where necessary and appropriate. In cases where a pupil is suspected or alleged to have committed an offence, such as rape, assault by penetration or sexual assaults, the starting point is that they should be passed to the Police. This will often be a natural progression of making a referral to children's social care. The school's designated safeguarding lead (or a deputy) should be leading the school's response and should be aware of the local process for referrals to children's social care and making reports to the Police. The alleged victim's parents will usually also be informed (subject to data protection and safeguarding considerations) of the incident and be told that the Police have been informed. Schools are referred to DfE guidance on Sexual Harassment and Sexual Violence for further information. Schools should ensure their Safeguarding and Child Protection Policy is followed to ensure there is appropriate support in place for all pupils involved.

Disciplinary meeting

A formal disciplinary meeting should always follow where the investigation has identified a case for which permanent exclusion is a possible outcome.

Preparation for the meeting

The Co-Principal should convene a meeting to consider the matter and invite the pupil and his/her parents to attend the meeting.

Prior to the meeting, certain documents should be made available to the pupil (as appropriate to their age and understanding) and their parents, wherever possible. These documents may include, but are not limited to:

- a statement setting out the points of complaint
- written witness statements
- notes of the evidence in support of the complaint
- the relevant school policies and procedures
- the investigation report

Due regard must be had to confidentiality owed to other pupils and/or families and compliance with the school's data protection obligations. Documents may therefore require redaction or a summary provided instead. Any written submission provided by, or on behalf of the pupil, should be passed to the Co-Principal before the disciplinary meeting. The pupil should be in attendance throughout the disciplinary meeting and may be accompanied by a trusted adult (which may be a member of staff). The pupil's parents may similarly be accompanied, should they wish. Legal representation is not appropriate and should not be permitted. [Parents may take their own notes of the meeting but electronic recordings should not be permitted]. The Co-Principal should be informed of all attendees at least 24 hours before the disciplinary meeting.

Proceedings

The process to be followed at the disciplinary meeting shall be determined by the Head but should be as informal as possible. The meeting will be conducted in a manner appropriate to the age, understanding and maturity of the pupil/s involved, taking into account any additional needs of the pupil/s in all circumstances. Notes should be taken by the school during the disciplinary meeting. The meeting should be followed up in writing, to confirm what was discussed. A copy of the notes can be provided to the parents, if they request this. The pupil should have an opportunity to provide their account and both the pupil and his/her parents should be able to ask questions. The pupil/parents should also be able to address the Co-Principal on the issue of sanctions. If the Co-Principal considers that further investigation is needed, the disciplinary meeting may be adjourned, and the reason for this adjournment should be explained to the pupil and their parents. If an adjournment is not necessary, the Co-Principal should communicate their decision in writing as soon as reasonably practicable following the meeting and in accordance with any timeframe(s) set out in school policies. The Co-Principal should include the reasons for their decision and the appropriate sanction. The pupil's previous disciplinary history may be taken into account, when reaching a decision.

Due regard must be had to any SEND the pupil may have and whether this may have contributed to the misconduct in question.

Consideration must also be had to the school's obligations under the Equality Act 2010 where the pupil may be considered as having a disability.

Leaving status

If the Co-Principal decides that a pupil should leave the school, the pupil's parents may be consulted to determine the appropriate leaving status for that pupil (i.e. permanent exclusion, required removal or voluntary withdrawal by the parents). There is no obligation on the Co-Principal to consult with parents. If the decision is made by the parents to withdraw the pupil, there should be no right to appeal. Pupils who have permanently left the school, irrespective of leaving status, should not be permitted to re-enter school premises without prior consent from the Co-Principal.

The school may make arrangements for the transfer of any course and project work to either the leaving pupil, the parents or to another school.

Decision letter

The Co-Principal's decision letter should make clear to parents the disciplinary sanction that has been applied, the reasons for the decision (with reference to appropriate school policy and/or the terms of the contract, where applicable) and any right of appeal and how parents may exercise this.

Where a pupil is permanently excluded, the sanction that will be applied to the pupil will be that of a permanent exclusion. This means that the pupil is permanently excluded unless and until the decision is overturned. This means that the excluded pupil will not be allowed back into school unless the permanent exclusion is reversed.

Appeal Hearing An appeal process is available to parents of a permanently excluded pupil or where the pupil is required to leave the school. The right to appeal does not extend to suspensions (whether pending an investigation or as a sanction) or where the pupil is withdrawn by the parents.

The School will use the final (stage of their Complaints Procedure) If parents wish to appeal the Co-Principal's decision to exclude/require removal, that parents must do so within 72 hours of the Co-Principal's decision. This supersedes the timeframes provided for in the Complaints Procedure as it relates to appeal against the permanent exclusion/required removal of a pupil. If the School receives a request outside the specified period it is not obliged to arrange an appeal, but it is recognised that there may be exceptional circumstances where an appeal may be accommodated.

Request for review

Upon notification of the Co-Principal's decision to exclude or require a pupil to leave the School, parents may wish to appeal the Co-Principal's decision and request a Panel hearing under the Complaints Procedure. An application should be received by the school within 72 hours of the decision being notified to the parents and clearly set out the grounds on which parents are asking for a review and the outcome that they seek.

Review hearing

The review should be undertaken by two members of the SMT and at least one person that is independent of the School. None of the panel should have detailed prior knowledge of the case. Parents should be notified in advance of the names of the members making up the review panel. The meeting should take place at the School premises and within the timeframes set out in the school complaints policy. A review meeting is an internal procedure and all those involved, or who are concerned in the procedure, should be reminded to keep its proceedings confidential. Those present at the hearing will usually be:

- members of the review hearing
- the Co-Principal and any relevant members of staff whose presence the Co-Principal considers to be necessary to secure a fair outcome for the pupil; and
- the pupil (where appropriate)
- the pupil's parents and, if they wish, the parents may be accompanied by a friend or relation who is not legally qualified.

Conduct of the review hearing

The process of conducting a Panel Hearing is set out in the complaints procedure. In addition to ensuring compliance with their own complaints procedure, the School will also ensure the following arrangements are in place:

- The review hearing should be chaired by one member. As with the disciplinary meeting, the hearing should be conducted in an informal, non-adversarial manner appropriate to the age, understanding and maturity of the pupil involved, taking into account any additional needs of the pupil in all circumstances.

- Someone should be asked to take minutes of the hearing.
 - A copy of the minutes can be provided to the parents after the meeting, if the parents so request.
 - Parents may take their own notes of the meeting but electronic recordings should not be permitted.
 - The Chair of the Panel should ensure that all those present have the opportunity to ask questions and make appropriate comment.
 - The Chair of the Panel may at his/her discretion adjourn or terminate the hearing. If the hearing is terminated without a conclusion being reached, the original decision of the Co-Principal will stand.
 - Decision – The Panel will consider the grounds for the review and may decide to either:
 - uphold the decision of the Co-Principal and, if minded to do so, with agreement of the Co-Principal, discuss the pupil's leaving status (i.e. permanent exclusion, required removal, or withdrawal) with a view to reaching an agreement; or
 - if they wish, recommend the decision of the Co-Principal to be reviewed and, if minded to do so, recommend the Co-Principal reviews their decision including recommending an alternative sanction. The decision should be notified, together with the reasons for the decision, to the parents by the Chair of the review hearing in writing policy.

Confidentiality

All those participating in the application of this policy including parents and pupils are required to keep all statements, correspondence, notes and documents confidential except where legally required to disclose them.

Responsibilities of the school

The procedures followed will ensure fairness and openness in the handling of exclusions. The School will follow this guidance and individual school policies and ensure compliance with their Terms and Conditions. Where parents request an appeal, two members of the SLT and the independent Panel member should consider any representation(s) about an exclusion made by the parents of the excluded pupil.

The panel's decision

As noted above, the Panel may decide to uphold an exclusion or recommend reconsideration by the Co-Principals. Only in very rare circumstances may a Panel decide to overturn the Co-Principal's decision and order reinstatement (either immediately or by a particular date). The Panel must inform the parent and the Co-Principal of their decision, in writing without delay and within the timescales set out in school policy, stating their reasons. A note of the Panel's decision should be placed on the pupil's school record with copies of relevant papers.

Deleting a pupil from the school roll

Where a pupil is permanently excluded or is required to leave, the pupil should not be removed from the roll until such time as the timeframe for appealing the Head's decision has passed and/or the outcome of any Stage 3 Panel review is known. This is important because a pupil can only lawfully be deleted from the admission register on the grounds prescribed in the Education (Pupil Registration) (England)

Regulations 2006 as amended. These Regulations list the limited lawful grounds for removing a pupil from the roll. These include:

- The pupil has been registered at another school (unless it is agreed that the pupil should be registered at more than one school)
- The pupil is registered at more than one school, but has ceased to attend the school in question and a school at which the pupil is registered has given consent to the removal
- Written notification has been received from the parents that the pupil will be receiving education otherwise than at school
- The pupil has been permanently excluded
- The pupil, who is not of compulsory school age, has ceased to attend the school

Remedies after the panel's decision

There are various courses of action disgruntled parents could take if they are unhappy with the decision to exclude and/or the management of the exclusions process. By way of example, these could include:

1. A complaint to the Department for Education and/or Ofsted if parents consider there are whole school issues that have not been addressed.
2. Breach of contract – if parents believe the school has acted in breach of the Terms and Conditions of the contract
3. Equality Act 2010 claim – if parents are of the view the decision is discriminatory and/or otherwise in breach of the Equality Act 2010

Appendix 1:

Examples of misconduct that may lead to permanent exclusion.

Permanent exclusions are extremely serious and should only be used in exceptional circumstances. Permanent exclusions should only be in response to persistent misconduct of a serious nature, where other sanctions have been attempted and not resulted in improved behaviour and conduct. There are a few single incidents that may lead to a permanent exclusion, these are:

- a serious breach of safety requirements likely to endanger other people or the pupil themselves;
- use or possession of or supply of alcohol or illegal drugs within the school premises or during school organised activities;
- removal of, or damage to, school property;
- stealing from the school, employees of the school, or from other pupils;
- intentional damage to property;
- abuse of the school's computer system and of the internet;
- sexual misconduct, abuse or assault;
- serious actual or threatened violence or physical assault against another pupil, member of staff or worker in the school;
- carrying an offensive weapon (defined as any item made or adapted for causing injury);
- bullying and/or harassment including racial, sexual or homophobic harassment;
- wilful defiance of the properly exercised authority of the school and its staff;
- bringing the school into disrepute or acting in a manner deliberately to undermine the school's principles or ethos.
